

ROXANNE WILSON

biography

Roxanne Wilson is an appellate attorney, President and CEO of RXW, Inc., author, popular television and radio personality, and well-traveled speaker. She competed in season five of NBC's "The Apprentice" with Donald Trump, gaining rave reviews from "The Donald" himself. Roxanne was the first African-American woman to compete in the final four on the NBC hit show. With the TV show as the background, Roxanne's book Footprints in the Boardroom depicts how modern believers can use their faith to overcome modern day challenges, especially in this dog-eat-dog business world.

As co-host of Texas' own Christian talent search program, Inspire the Desire, Roxanne encourages young and old to reach for their dreams. Roxanne most recently teamed up with Austin's Mix 94.7, Magic 95.5, Talk 1370AM and Scott and White to promote Balance Austin, a program dedicated to educating women on the importance of life balance.

Roxanne is a national speaker, who is sought after by women's organizations, Christian groups, colleges and universities, and young professional organizations. Roxanne's lectures are inspiring as she challenges listeners to reach for the star within.

Being committed to the community, Roxanne dedicates her time and talents to support non-profit organizations. Roxanne is currently the spokesperson for the Make-A-Wish Foundation Destination Joy campaign presented by Lay's. Roxanne is a Make-A-Wish Foundation Ambassador, member of the Junior League of Austin, and formerly served on the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation Austin Affiliate Board of Directors.

Roxanne is committed to the pursuit of a balanced life and maintaining a sound mind, body and spirit. As a certified jazzercise Instructor and Franchisee, Roxanne enhances the lives of others through exercise and dance. She is a member of the Riverbend Church choir and founder of Untitled, Riverbend's young professionals group.

Roxanne earned her law degree at the University of Michigan and her business degree in economics at Baylor University. She has clerked for two justices on the Supreme Court of Texas. Roxanne resides in Austin, Texas.
